

An Appeal to Alumni of Department of Electronic Science, University of Pune, Pune – 411007

Dear Alumni,

It gives me immense pleasure to reach to you by way of this appeal. The Department is completing 25 progressive years. Starting from a small offshoot of the Physics department we have grown into a full-fledged department of National and International repute. The name and fame is due to consistent efforts by all the stakeholders including the teaching and nonteaching staff, students and university authorities. We are all proud to see the progress made by our students and different heights reached by them. All of us have felt that it is a time to take recourse and reconnect to all those beloved ones who have graduated out of the department and are pursuing successful career paths.

Personally, I do remember each and every student right from the first batch till the very recent one. All these years, we have been trying our level best to provide you with the best facilities and promote curricular and co-curricular activities. All the faculty members and non teaching staff of the department are always trying to provide the best of learning environment and further the subject of electronic science.

Many of you have been providing a regenerative feedback which strengthened our efforts. Though, due to different priorities in life some of you could not retain the connectivity, but I am sure all of you must have made best use of the groundwork done during your years here and must be cherishing the memories of times you have spent in the department.

On the occasion of 25 years of the department we all are making a humble appeal to all the alumni of the department to come together, become member of the alumni group and actively contribute in various activities organized on the occasion of silver jubilee of the department and beyond. I am very much confident that you would definitely like to grab this opportunity to get connected to your older friends and build new bonds with several generations in the field.

With best wishes for success in all endeavors of life,

Dr. Arvind Shaligram

Head, Department of Electronic Science,

University of Pune, Pune 411007.
